

Paper prototype feedback

The following feedback was gathered from the initial paper prototype and was based on the initial design as presented during this prototype.

- Hover method preferred as opposed to the listing method.
- Change wording on buttons to be more specific to where the user is going back to.
- Use tooltips (hover over) to help novice users learn the system.
- Add a cancel/back button to the results screen.
- Add a “submit another” button to the confirmation screen
- Have an option to go back to the metadata mapper or the ingestion manager after a successful submission.
- Consider instead of a dropdown list to have a drag and drop option when selecting Dublin Core fields.
- A prototype of the results and confirmation page may be useful as the participants indicated that, although they understood what to do on the paper prototype, it may be confusing when interaction is possible.